Sub-tier analysis

160 million children are in child labour

This accounts for approximately 1 in 10 children worldwide.

Our studies have also found that child labour risks remain omnipresent in global supply chains throughout different sectors.

A THOROUGH RISK ASSESSMENT IS AN IMPORTANT FIRST STEP TO MAP BUSINESS' DIRECT AND INDIRECT IMPACTS ON CHILDREN, AND TO UNDERSTAND THE NEEDS OF PARENT WORKERS AND CHILDREN INVOLVED IN ITS SUPPLY CHAIN.

Deep-diving into policies and practices through a child rights lens can help businesses carry out improvements within their supply chains, that not only benefit workers, families and children but also deliver positive business outcomes.
